

ERSKINE

THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

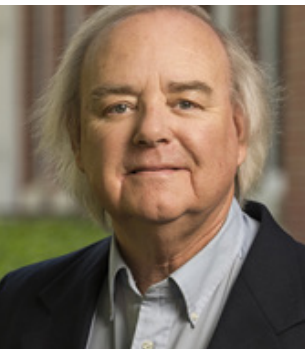

SPRING TERM 2024 (THM)

Richard Winston, Associate Professor of New Testament
Email: winston@erskine.edu

BI 801 Seminar in Biblical Studies (The Epistle to the Romans)
(GVL&Online) Saturdays: 9:00am-5:00pm; 1/20, 2/17, 3/16, 4/13; in-person and live video conference for distance students

This seminar examines advanced interpretive, background, and theological topics in Romans. Special attention is given to the theological ideas of Romans in relation to the whole of Pauline thought. Students analyze scholarly discussions of Pauline theology, issue of Paul and the law, and write academic papers on exegetical and theological issues in Romans.

Loyd Melton, Professor of New Testament
Email: melton@erskine.edu

BI 801 Seminar in Biblical Studies (The Parables in Current Study)
Mondays: 9:00am-5:00pm; 1/29, 2/12, 3/11, 4/15; in-person and live video conference for distance students

This seminar will address the parables' historical and canonical contexts, their forms of communication, the history of their interpretation, and their relevance for the Church and society today. It will also examine some recent methods of interpreting the parables.

ERSKINE

THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

SPRING TERM 2024 (THM)

Mark E. Ross, Professor of Systematic Theology

Email: ross@erskine.edu

ST 801 Seminar in Historical Studies (Westminster Assembly and Standards)
(CO&Online) Saturdays: 9:00am-5:00pm; 1/27, 2/24, 3/23, 4/20; in-person and live video conference for distance students

This course will examine the historical background and theological accomplishments of the Westminster Assembly in the seventeenth century. Students may concentrate their research in either the biblical, historical, or theological aspects of the standards produced by this Assembly that have been of such enduring significance for subsequent church history.

Dale Johnson, Distinguished Professor of Church History

Email: djohnson@erskine.edu

ST 801 Seminar in Historical Studies (American Christianity)
(DW&Online) Mondays: 9:00am-5:00pm; 1/8, 2/5, 3/4, 4/8; in-person and live video conference for distance students

In a seminar students will investigate American religious traditions from colonial times to the present denominational expressions of the American church. Students will analyze primary and secondary sources, conduct independent research, and present their findings in written assignments and oral presentations.